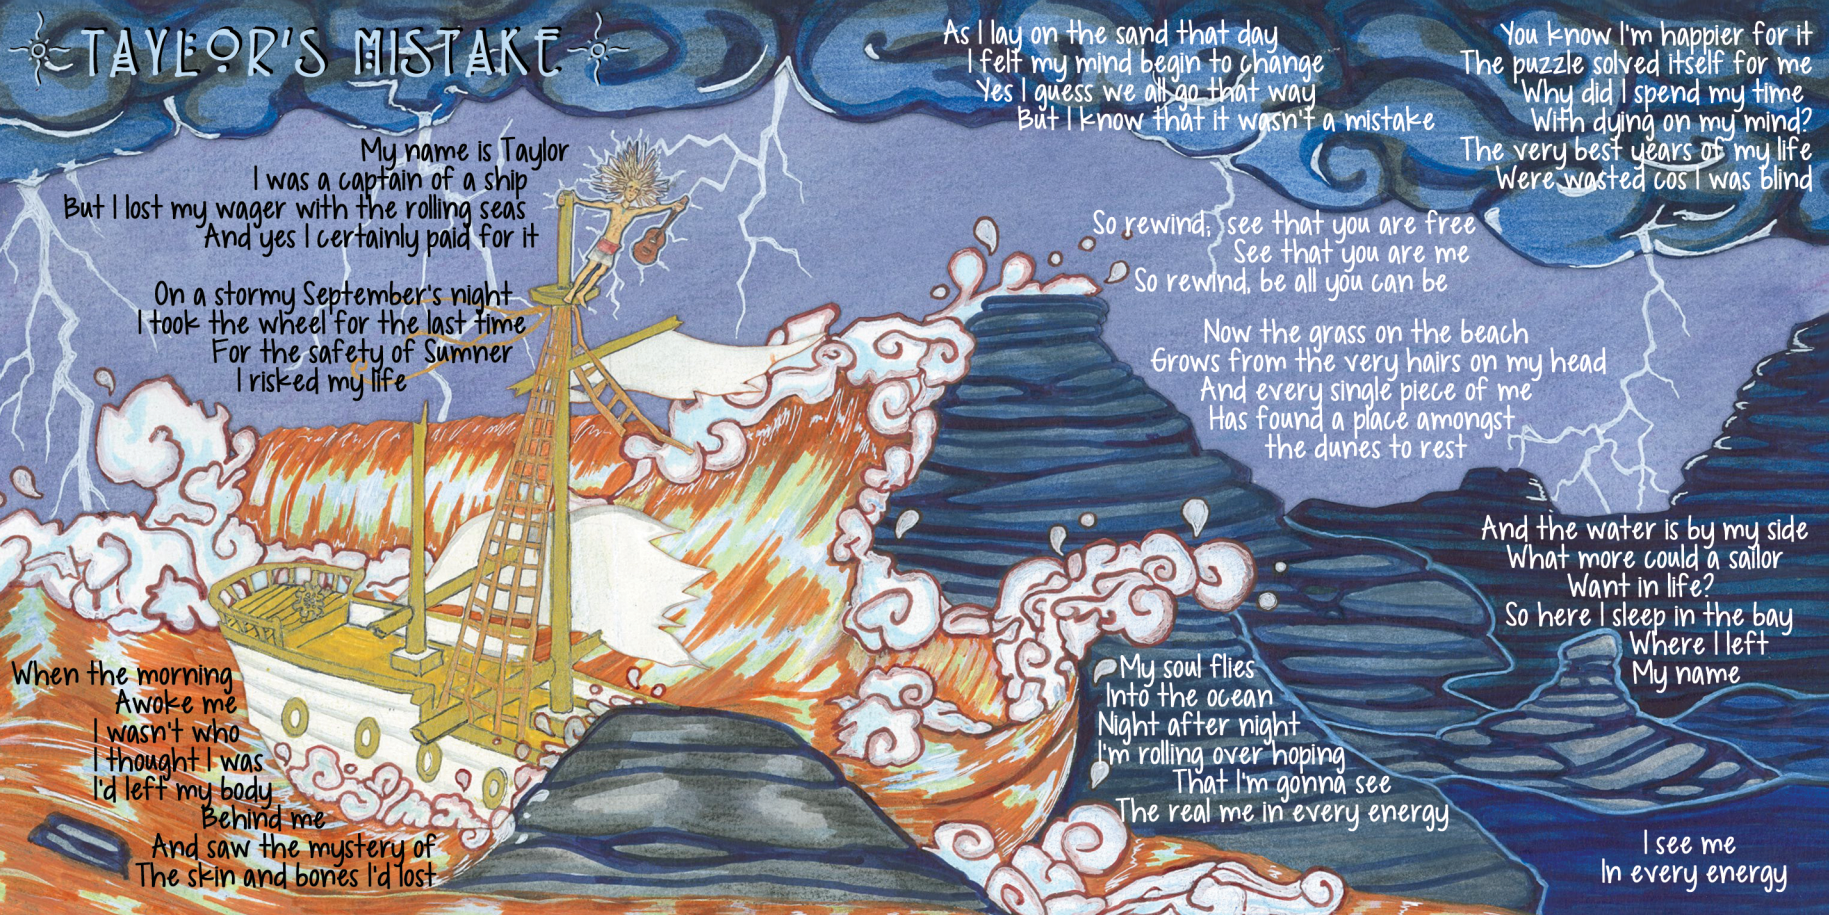
TAYLOR'S MISTAKE



My name is Taylor
I was a captain of a ship
But I lost my wager with the rolling seas
And yes I certainly paid for it

On a stormy September's night
I took the wheel for the last time
For the safety of Sumner
I risked my life

When the morning
Awoke me
I wasn't who
I thought I was
I'd left my body
Behind me
And saw the mystery of
The skin and bones I'd lost

As I lay on the sand that day
I felt my mind begin to change
Yes I guess we all go that way
But I know that it wasn't a mistake

So rewind, see that you are free
See that you are me
So rewind, be all you can be

Now the grass on the beach
Grows from the very hairs on my head
And every single piece of me
Has found a place amongst the dunes to rest

My soul flies
Into the ocean
Night after night
I'm rolling over hoping That I'm gonna see
The real me in every energy

You know I'm happier for it
The puzzle solved itself for me
Why did I spend my time
With dying on my mind?
The very best years of my life
Were wasted cos I was blind

And the water is by my side
What more could a sailor
Want in life?
So here I sleep in the bay
Where I left
My name

I see me
In every energy
